DISCUSS OHIO CANAL ROUTES

Association Representing Marion Sends Delegates to Washington Meet.

Marion's chances to be located on a waterway system between the Great Lakes and the Ohio river rest with recommendations to be made to congress in the near future by the National Rivers and Harbors congress which is meeting this week in Washington. It was known today.

Representatives of the Ohio Waterways association of Columbus, whose aim is to obtain federal appropriation for a canal from Sandusky to Portsmouth through Marion county, are attending the congress and are endeavoring to get its support in winning the necessary federal appropriation.

The Marion route, however, is not the only one which the congress is considering in the Ohio area. Three other routes between the Great Lakes and the Ohio have been proposed and various factions, notably the city of Pittsburgh, are leaving no stone unturned to win the routing most favorable to their cause.

Pittsburgh, for example, wants a route from that city through Youngstown and Warren to Ash-tabula, while another proposal is to build a canal from Toledo to Cincinnati via the Maumee river valley. Still a fourth route lies entirely in Pennsylvania from the Allegheny river to Erie.

The Sandusky - Marion - Portsmouth canal, if built, would utilize the Sandusky and Scioto river channels, necessitating the digging of a short canal in Marion county to join the two streams. A system of 20 locks would be necessary in the 230-mile stretch between the two termini.

Hydro-electric, oil-burning steel barges would be used on the system, according to Capt. R. C. Williams, secretary of the Columbus Waterways association.

NO CHANCE TO CRASH OHIO GRANGE MEETING

"One-Eye" Connolly Wouldn't Even Have a Show with Veteran Gatekeeper.

"ONE-EYE" CONNOLLY, famed gate-crasher, wouldn't have a chance to attend a session of the Ohio state grange convention if he didn't know the password. H. A. Atwood of Garrettsville, gatekeeper of the state grange 14 years, would see to that.

Atwood's remarkable ability to "eye out" a non-granger when crowds are pouring into a meeting at the rate of several hundred a minute has won him a reputation throughout the state.

He is just as quick to detect a grange member. He has the reputation of never asking a granger for the password a second time at any convention. When Atwood gets the password the first time, his mind records a photographic impression that enables him to remember that person throughout the convention.

HE probably has heard the grange password pronounced more often than any one man in Ohio.

No job along the gatekeeping line is too big for Atwood. He tackled the position when the national grange convention was held in Cleveland and maintained his reputation unscathed throughout the convention.

He became a granger at Garrettsville in 1900, and advanced rapidly, taking the sixth degree work three years later. He is now a seventh degree granger, having taken the final degree in 1927.

Atwood has held most of the offices in the subordinate

Legislative Agent Urges Grangers To Guard Rights

A. Dyer Tells Farm Leaders of Law Needs

Session of Ohio General Assembly To Be One of Most Important in History Due to Tax Problems To Be Solved, Speaker Says.

Members to be on guard against the 15-mill limitation and the representation written constitution of the state. The legislative agent for the grange, A. Dyer, told a dozen government officers gave annual reports to the Ohio theater this morning.

The Grange must be on guard to keep the 15-mill limitation, county representation and all the safeguards in our present constitution. "Along the line of economy, you should ask your elected members of the general assembly to confer with your local taxing officials as to amendments needed to existing laws that tie the hands of these officials in their expenditures. Officials are simply rubber stamps in many instances and are forced by law to spend money that might not be spent if the local officials could use discretion in the matter. School boards are striking examples of this condition. "As to school finances, rural territory has never had a fair deal. "Stand of the grange on the teachers' retirement fund has been misrepresented. The grange seeks to halt the collection of taxes from local school districts for this purpose until the collection is again necessary.

Stresses Compensation
Farm folks should study the workers' compensation law and avoid tax advantage of its provision, as there is great danger without it. The next legislature will do much to make this law more workable in regard to farmers.

In the matter of rural electrification Ohio has progressed in the last year far beyond the other states. The rural electrification problem is just beginning to be solved. Costs of construction and rates must be taken up and discussions reached fairly to both the customer and companies.

The question of extra levies outside the 15-mill limitation and special levies for bond retirement will be a grave one for the future. In view of the fact that so many electors pay no direct taxes the number required to vote special levies should be increased to 35 per cent and for bond issues 65 per cent, perhaps more.

Although favoring an increase in the automobile license fee, the grange would exempt trucks, because taxes on passenger cars have been cut 50 per cent, and doubling them would only restore them to the original fee.

The law as to public utility licenses for commercial haulers is an annoying one. It is proposed that private owners of trucks and private contract haulers may haul for others without taking a P. U. C. O. license so long as they do more than 50 per cent of their hauling for themselves as individuals or under private contract.

Constructive road legislation should be passed by the next legislature. The state highway system should in the future be constructed and maintained and grade crossings eliminated without expense to the direct taxpayer. An 18-foot road is sufficient for the use of any farmer, and he should not be assessed for the benefits of others.

Back Police Bill
"In accordance with the resolutions of the state grange, a rural police bill has been drawn and will be presented to the next legislature.

A law is also being drawn to authorize the formation of vigilantes in the communities of Ohio in the event the rural police bill fails.

"We must have a hunter's license that will enable the landowner and officer to identify the marauding hunter.

"We also need a general trespass law.

"The state should have a conservation statute making it unlawful to take trees, shrubs, plants and flowers without the consent of the owner.

The grange favors a motor responsibility law to require a reckless driver after conviction to pay for any damage he has already done and protect the public for the future by taking out liability insurance or by giving bond.

The state grange should request the enactment of a uniform traffic code for the state.

A guest law to do away with responsibility of the driver in the event a guest passenger in his automobile is injured is being prepared for the legislature.

Expenses of Ohio penal and charitable institutions are too great because too many persons are sent or kept there on account of improper parole laws and too many uplifters are seeking to make penal institutions attractive instead of making them places of stern correction.

Touches Convict Labor

"Convict labor should be employed in the production of any articles needed by the taxing districts of Ohio and the districts should be forced to purchase such articles made by convicts.

Modification of the school attendance law will be submitted to the legislature. This will permit unfortunate children an opportunity to educate their hands if their attempts at studying are failures.

The state grange should reiterate its stand in favor of relieving homes, farms and business of their unfair burden of taxation.

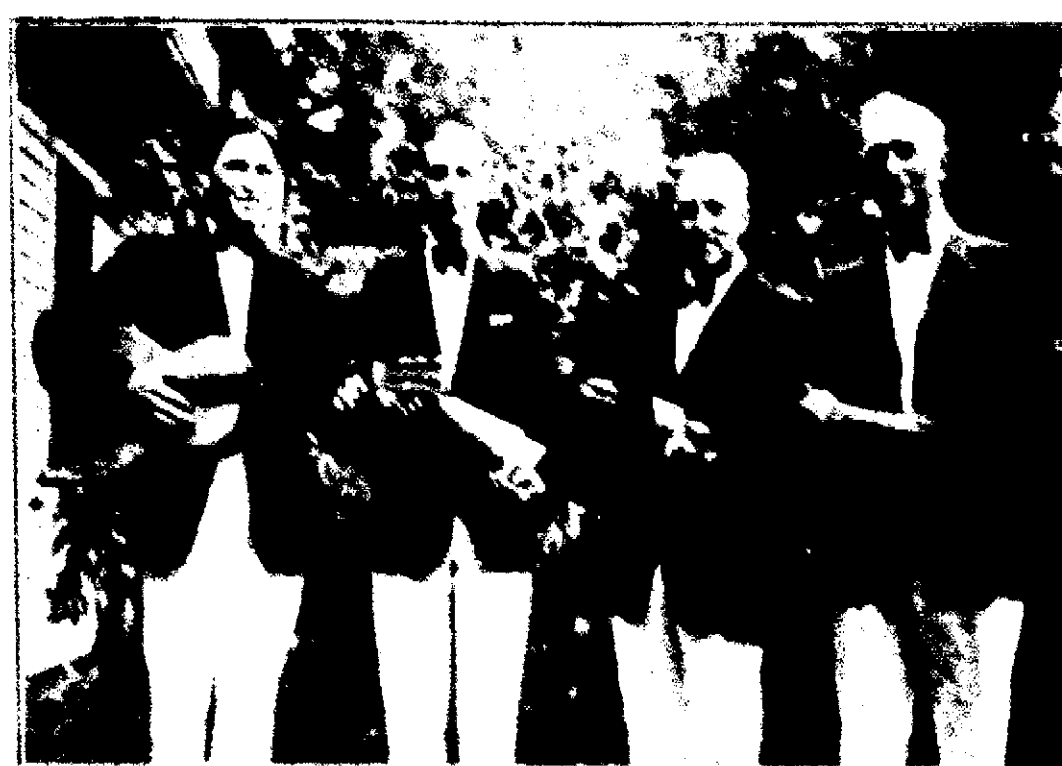

The grange should oppose the reorganization of the state tax levy, except in case of some great emergency, and impairment of our present debt laws, any loosening of our present budget laws, the proposed plan of non-contributory old age pensions, a general sales tax which would oppress the ordinary citizen and favor the wealthy, any so-called yellow dog legislation which would impair the right of contract by the employer or the employee.

A law for the creation of credit unions in Ohio is drawn and deserves support of the organized farmer.

Many granges of Ohio are asleep at the switch in the matter of publicity.

250 ATTEND CHURCH MEET

Trinity Baptists Hold Loyalty Social; Program Is Feature.

More than 250 persons attended the second annual "Every Member Trinity Loyalty social" last night at Trinity Baptist church, the climax of a loyalty campaign which has been held for the last six weeks. The social was the outstanding social event of the church calendar for the year.

Posters of welcome greeted the members and their friends as they arrived at the church. A trick mirror started the merriment of the social. The rooms were decorated in blue and white, symbolizing loyalty, sprigs of evergreen, symbolical of ever being loyal and signs, slogans and placards in blue and white, all carrying some thought of loyalty to Christ and the church.

Stage Grid Game

After a social hour, the group assembled in the junior room to listen to a football game between the deacons of Trinity church and Notre Dame, with Frank Kette broadcasting. Telegrams were read between quarters. The deacons won the game by a score of 13-0. Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor and captain of the deacons' team, gave a short talk on loyalty.

Miss Bernita LeMaster sang two songs, "Mother, Make Me a Part of Love You" and "I Love You." A short fellowship meeting of scripture and song was led by Dale Gorman, who presented a short humorous sketch on "The Loyalty Family of 1936" with Mr. and Mrs. Z. P. Davis, Ralph Davis, Mrs. W. R. Roberts, Clyde Smith and Mr. Gorman taking parts. "Loyalty to Christ" was sung by the entire assembly at the close of the sister.

Rev. Wood closed the program by reading a letter from Mrs. Lavin May Whit of Dayton, former member of Trinity church. Light refreshments were served in a social hour.

J. S. Whaley was general chairman of the social. Committees in charge of the social follow: decorations, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Spring, chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. ALL-BUCKEYE TEAM CHOSEN BY COACHES Novel Selection Is Made for United Press by Conference Mentors.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 10.—The supply of all-star football teams has been so liberal the last few weeks that fans are growing weary of reading anything that begins with "left end" and terminates at fullback.

The United Press today presents an all-Buckeye conference team that should be worthy of study, however, because it represents the exclusive opinion of the conference coaches.

This team was not picked by sports writers or football critics but by the men who watch the players every day in practice, every moment during the game, and who know better than anybody else the capabilities of this or that player—the coaches.

It not only differs in the method of choice from other mythical teams, but also in personnel. Some of the players were not recognized on any other all-star teams, yet their coaches think they are worthy of the honor. Only one team was chosen.

The team chosen by the coaches has been criticized because it does not contain the names of Rex Burke, Ohio university, and Raymond Scott, Denison at, ends; Ray Hart, Ohio University, at fullback; or Edgar Westfall, Ohio Wesleyan, at halfback. But it represents the opinion of the coaches who ought to know their players.

The team: Ends—Jensen, Ohio Wesleyan, and Halpin, Miami; tackles, Griffith, Ohio, and Hallett, Cincinnati; guards, Chrisman, Ohio, and Nieberg, Ohio Wesleyan; center—North, Miami; quarterback, Gabriel, Ohio; halfbacks, Kepler, Ohio, and Cartwright, Miami; fullback, Gnaven Ohio Wesleyan.

Bowler Gets 704 Total in All-Star League Match

McFarland snatched the pins for a 704 total last night as his Coca Cola team lost two out of three to Markert & Lewis in the All-Star league on the Recreation Alleys.

Starting off with a 134, McFarland speeded up to a 294 in the second game and then finished with a pretty 278.

Markert & Lewis rolled 1,017 in their first game when Steinmetz crashed the maples for 237. Sharrock hit 221 and Hane topped the pins for a 217 count.

WRITER TELLS HIGH SPOTS OF GRID SEASON

Impressions Gained Watching 10 Games Throughout Nation Are Related.

BY GEORGE KIRKNEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 10.—Some vivid memories and personal opinions on the football season after witnessing 10 games played in three sections of the country—east, middle and far west.

Greatest all-around player: Frank Carideo, Notre Dame.

Best line plunger: Rob Russell, Northwestern, who ripped Notre Dame's line to pieces.

Best running back: Marcy Schwartz, Notre Dame, who was never stopped by any team.

Best blocking back: Marty Brill, Notre Dame.

Hardest hitting back: Jack Manders, Minnesota giant.

Greatest all-around lineman: Bert Metzger, 155-pound Notre Dame guard who was never outplayed and whose remarkable blocking made many a long run possible.

Best passers: Harry Newman, Michigan, and Pug Rentner, Northwestern.

Best pass catchers: Frank Baker, Northwestern, and Tom Conley, Notre Dame.

Most spectacular lineman: Reb Woodworth, Northwestern guard, who played his position like an end.

Crucial Fumbles
Biggest mystery of the season: Why Northwestern, Carnegie Tech and Southern California all fumbled at crucial moments against Notre Dame.

Most thrilling play: Marshall Duffield Southern California quarterback, retrieved a bad pass from center just before the ball went out of bounds and kicking over Notre Dame's goal-line while standing almost in the arms of two Notre Dame players.

Longest and prettiest punt: Harold Robert, Stanford fullback, booting one 60 yards from scrimmage against Dartmouth.

Best single exhibition of punting: Caside kicking out of bounds three times in a row inside Northwestern's 34-yard line.

Makes Long Run
Most surprising play: Dutch Eyth, Carnegie Tech, halfback, getting through the Notre Dame line and running 70 yards for a touchdown without a Notre Dame man putting a finger on him.

Most under-rated player: Alvin Culver, big Notre Dame tackle, who was always bobbing up with a great play at a critical moment like recovering a fumble on his own 14-yard line against Northwestern and another in the Southwestern California game which led to Notre Dame's first touchdown.

Closest exhibition: Johnny Kitzmiller, Oregon halfback, playing on his nerve against St. Mary's, and being almost unable to get up after he was knocked down in the latter part of the game.

Hardest single tackle: Schwartz, Notre Dame, hitting Russell, Northwestern, head on and laying Russell out cold.

Drops Pass
Hardest luck play: Fletcher, Oregon end, catching a pass for what would have been the winning touchdown against St. Mary's, then dropping the ball over the goal line.

Most serious football fans: the Los Angeles variety.

Most picturesque section: Southwestern California.

Hardest-fought game: Notre Dame and Northwestern battling 53 minutes without a score before the Irish could break the deadlock.

ISSUE ULTIMATUM

WISCONSIN Sophomores Demand That Thistlethwaite Stay.
By The Associated Press
MADISON, Wis., Dec. 10.—An ultimatum that either Glenn Thistlethwaite be retained as University of Wisconsin football coach or they will not participate in the sport has been issued by the sophomore members of the 1930 Badger team to the athletic council.

The sophomore signers were Charles R. Goldenberg, Ralph Lovshin, John Schneller, Harry Hike, Jr., Ed Schwoegler, Gregory Kabat, Varde Stout, Walter McGuire, Clarence Edwards and Joe Lanfor. Goldenberg, Schneller, Kabat, McGuire and Lanfor were regulars.

The petition said in part: "Having two years of football competition left, we believe we are in position to know the ability of Coach Thistlethwaite better than anyone else and are convinced that he has the necessary qualities and that the past season was as successful as could be expected with the material."

The petition goes on to deplore Wisconsin being called "coaches graveyard," and concludes with: "We do hereby agree, sincerely and faithfully, not to cooperate in any way with the football authorities unless Coach Thistlethwaite is retained as head coach."

EXCESSIVE DEMANDS NIP BUDDING DEALS AT NEW YORK MEET

Hornsby Gives Up Hope of Landing Bottomley as Cub First Sacker.

BY HERBERT W. HARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Major league club owners and managers have set some sort of a record for the first two days of the annual midwinter meetings, they've failed to complete a single player deal of any importance.

It's not because they haven't tried. Hours after hours in the hotel lobbies the conversations go on but every budding deal has been nipped by the frost of excessive demands before it reached full bloom.

The New York Yankees, for instance, have been taking things over with the St. Louis Browns, the Chicago White Sox and the Boston Red Sox without getting anywhere. From the Browns the Yankees would like to get Pitcher George Habscheid, but the Browns are interested only in Pitcher Henry Johnson, whom the Yankees want to keep.

Third Baseman Willie Kamm and Catcher Moe Berg are the players the Yankees would be glad to take off the White Sox's hands and they still have a hankering for either Danny McFadden or Ed Morris, Red Sox pitching aces.

Bottomley Deal Off
Rogers Hornsby of the Chicago Cubs has about given up hope of getting First Baseman Jim Bottomley from the Cardinals and will settle along with Charlie Glimm and George Kelly. The Giants could use Willie Berger, slugging outfielder of the Boston Braves, but every time John McGraw tries to do business someone asks for Third Baseman Freddie Lindstrom and the whole thing off.

There are more veterans around the meetings looking for jobs than in some years. Cy Perkins, old Philadelphia Athletic catcher, would like to hook up with Portland of the Pacific Coast league while Jack Quinn thinks he still could be of assistance to a major league pitching staff.

Slater Through?
It is understood George Slater has come to the end of his playing days with the Boston Braves and may become a coach with that club if he can't find anything better. The club has promised not to stand in his way. There is only one sure thing about Slater and that is he won't drop back into the minors.

Neither the American nor the National league accomplished much of other than routine nature at yesterday's meetings.

X-RAY TO DECIDE AGE OF ATHLETE

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 10.—London Gant, husky Sandusky High school football star, will go under the X-ray to determine whether he is eligible for competition.

Gant says he is 17 and is so listed in the family Bible, but his opponents have charged he is not under the 20-year eligibility limit. There is no birth certificate, so the matter was placed before Dr. F. Wingate Todd, director of the Brush Foundation and head of the anatomy laboratory at Western Reserve university.

Dr. Todd will apply his test by which he says he can determine approximate age by the density of the bones.

Gant is six feet tall and weighs 190 pounds.

NOTRE DAME SQUAD TO RECEIVE OVATION ON ARRIVAL HOME

Tumultuous Welcome Awaits Grid Champs at Chicago and South Bend.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—If Knute Rockne and his Notre Dame team haven't heard or read that they are the recognized kings of college football for 1931, they will know it by tonight.

Chicago and South Bend, Ind., stamping ground for the famous Rough Riders, today planned to give them probably the mightiest and noisiest ovation ever tendered any celebrity or athletic team in the Midwest as they returned from Los Angeles where they stormed Southern California's citadel Saturday for their nineteenth straight triumph in two seasons.

By official proclamation it was "Irish day" in Chicago and the Notre Dame alumni promised the event would go down in history with the night of the big wind in Ireland. Rockne and his players had only one hour to spend in Chicago before proceeding to South Bend and the school room but it was to be jammed full of joyous receptions.

A parade through the loop, headed by Rockne and several other football celebrities, and speeches of eulogy were on the program. The Chicago streets were bedecked with Notre Dame's colors and confetti dealers warned the "white wings" of a busy day.

The team was scheduled to depart at 10:25 a. m. for South Bend where another celebration was imminent, headed by the Notre Dame band.

Battalino's Worth To Be Tested Friday Night

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Just how much fight Battalino has to the world's featherweight championship should be settled definitely Friday night when the Hartford boy tackles Kid Chocolate in a 15-round title bout in Madison Square Garden.

Ever since Battalino won the title from Andre Route there has been a rather general tendency to discount his ring worth. Most experts have regarded Chocolate as the untroubled featherweight champion although the Cuban's stock took a sharp drop recently when he accepted a bad beating from Fidel La Barba.

Lefty O'Doul, slugging outfielder, will draw around $12,000 for his season's work next year with his new club, the Brooklyn Dodgers.

There are more veterans around the meetings looking for jobs than in some years. Cy Perkins, old Philadelphia Athletic catcher, would like to hook up with Portland of the Pacific Coast league while Jack Quinn thinks he still could be of assistance to a major league pitching staff.

Slater Through?
It is understood George Slater has come to the end of his playing days with the Boston Braves and may become a coach with that club if he can't find anything better. The club has promised not to stand in his way. There is only one sure thing about Slater and that is he won't drop back into the minors.

Neither the American nor the National league accomplished much of other than routine nature at yesterday's meetings.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 10.—Wesley Fesler, Ohio State's All-American end, who has been called one of the greatest athletes in the history of the great school, also is one of the smart boys. Fesler is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic fraternity.

Social Worker Addresses Rotary, P-T-A Groups Here

Miss M. Luella Sauer of Cincinnati Says Family Is Foundation of Civilization and Points to Need of Preventing Its Disintegration.

Causes and effects of family disintegration in their remedies and the part the family agency and the community may play in preserving family life and preventing family disintegration were the subjects of a talk given by Miss M. Luella Sauer, social worker of the Cincinnati Family Welfare Society, at the luncheon of the Rotary club and the P-T-A groups here yesterday.

Miss Sauer, who came to Marion as a guest of the Rotary club, addressed a large group of women at 2 p. m. in the hotel ballroom and later spoke at the Parent-Teacher association meeting at Western Heights school. About 30 representatives of various organizations of the city were guests of the luncheon at the luncheon. Miss Sauer spoke on "The Family Agency" at the luncheon.

Family Most Important

"The family agency is founded on the principle that the family is the most important institution of society and must be preserved from disintegration," Miss Sauer stated. "It believes the family is the backbone of civilization, the nucleus of all that is fine and splendid in society. It is in the family that the individual learns loyalty, sacrifice, give and take, respect for authority, consideration for the rights of others, the art of working and living together. Material relief represents only one small part of the work of a family agency. The necessity is that of giving adequate relief. By adequate relief we mean the amount that is necessary to maintain a family according to its standard of living, an amount which will insure the family the necessary privacies, permit them to live in pleasant surroundings and give them sufficient money to provide food for the family, proper clothing and shelter."

Health Means Saving

Miss Sauer pointed out that adequate relief meant a saving to the community because of the improved health of the family, reduction in juvenile and adult delinquencies, better members of society and a self-sustaining family.

The family agency functioning properly works with the church, the school and other social agencies in rehabilitating the family, developing personality and providing for life enrichment, Miss Sauer said.

Miss Sauer urged the organization of a volunteer corps of women to work with the agency worker in carrying on the local work of the Family Welfare society, stressed the use of the social service exchange and pointed out a number of ways in which women can assist in relieving the unemployment situation. In her talk to the women at 2 p. m. Employment of men in doing work usually done at other times of the year, which can be done now was suggested as a step toward maintaining the employment situation, which were proving a boon to communities and relieving community situations. Divorce, desertions, and delinquency among boys and girls, are on the increase in times of unemployment, she pointed out. "Men do not want relief," she stated, "they want jobs."

Miss Sauer presented a number of ways in which the women might carry on their activities for Christmas in working with the Family Welfare society and particularly stressed the importance of making it a family Christmas.

IN MEMORIAM
In memory of our darling son, Harold Dee Dec. 10, 1922. July 20, 1929.

He's gone away
And the rooms are bare.
We miss his cap
From a parlor chair.
And we miss the toys
In the lonely hall.
But most of all
We miss his call.

We miss the shouts
And the laughter gay
Which greeted us
At the close of day.
And there isn't a thing
In the house we own
But sobbingly says:
"You are all alone."

It's only a house
That is ours to know
An empty house
That is cold with woe.
Like a prison grim
With its bars of black.
And it won't be home
Till he comes back.
Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Ledley.

Let us make some suggestions. GIVE TIME. COMFORT. CONVENIENCE. Nothing could be more personal and at the same time more acceptable.

Electrical appliances are the answer. They are time savers — energy savers. They make the work of the house easier. No home should be without them.

Their cost of operation is negligible — a few cents a day — and they more than pay for themselves in time saved, energy saved.

 stitute disbarment proceedings against law-

The Railroads and the Public Mind.

If constant dropping of water will wear away a stone, the slight being waged by both railroad managements and railroad employes against present-day governmental policies in connection with the operation of the rail systems of the land should begin to bear fruit, one of these days, in focusing public attention to the handicaps which they claim the government is forcing rail transportation to bear.

Addressing a traffic gathering in New Britain, Connecticut, a few nights ago, E. G.
 Buckland, chairman of the directorate of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, urged legislation covering commercial transportation by bus or truck over improved highways for which the railroads indirectly have to bear a part of the cost, with adequate authority for railroads to operate such facilities without discrimination. He further urged that the railroads should not be forced to compete with subsidized government-operated ships and barges over free waterways, and that the railroads which had built lines into gas territory should be permitted to build pipe lines into the same territory to meet the competition of pipe lines run into the territory, which the railroads are not permitted to do.

"What the railroads object to," Mr. Buckland went on to say, "is first, the prohibition in the Panama canal act against their engaging in transportation by water upon the same terms as their competitors, and secondly, they emphatically protest against the government engaging in such transportation and performing the same at a loss and assessing the general taxpayers to make good the loss."

Following the Buckland address, C. J. Bri-tter, vice president of the New York Central lines, appealed to manufacturers as the greatest users of rail transportation facilities, for aid in finding a remedy for the situation in which the railroads are struggling to maintain their standing in the face of manifold regulation, was regulated competition and constant rate reductions forced by the Interstate Commerce commission.

Speaking later on at the same dinner, Clifford S. Beattie, vice president of the Lehigh & Hudson Railway company, charged the government with unfair treatment of the railroads and with favoring transportation in other forms, particularly criticizing the "recapture" act by which any railroad making more than six per cent. return in any year or the value fixed by the government on its property is forced to give up half the excess to the government.

For years it has been the rule that the general public has had little sympathy for the railroads, but it is always possible that an overdose of unfriendly legislation, that an excess of regulation may cause the public mind to undergo a change. We have been wondering, of late, if the time is not near at hand when the possible may become the probable.
 With the railroad managements and the railroad employes recognizing a mutuality of interests, as they are today, a probable change in public feeling might easily become an actuality.

American Press Favors World Court.

An overwhelming proportion of the daily papers of the country favor ratification of the World court protocols, which would mean American entrance into the court. This is a fair deduction from the figures reported as the result of a very comprehensive survey made by the American foundation, the incorporated organization founded by the late Edward W.
 Bok.

In response to questionnaires sent to 2006 daily papers published in the forty-eight states and the District of Columbia, 414 with a total circulation of 3,545,879 took no stand, made no reply or replied in such a way as to make classification impossible under any of the five headings in the questionnaire favorable, opposed, no stand, no reply, impossible to classify, save the last named. Of the remaining 1,592 papers, 265 with circulations totaling 10,551,317 voted opposition, while 1,327 with an aggregate circulation of 25,993,906 favored ratification. Thus five of every six papers voting favored ratification. Put in another way, slightly over sixty-six per cent. of the papers queried favored ratification and thirty-four per cent. were opposed, while the circulation favorable was to the circulation opposed in the ratio of something over two and a half to one. It may be of special interest to Star readers to know that of the 134 Ohio papers queried, eighty representing a circulation of 1,959,951 favored ratification and thirteen representing a circulation of 510,923 expressed opposition.

As indicated by the national totals, the average circulation of the papers opposed is about two and a half times that of the papers favoring ratification. The explanation is that numbered among the former are such papers as the New York News, the New York Mirror, the New York Sun, the Chicago Tribune, all of which have large circulations and some of them immense, and the Hearst papers, most of which have large patronage in a circulation way.

The controversy over entrance into the World court has been so long extended that readers generally are familiar with the contentions of both those opposed and those favoring ratification. The chief contention of those opposing ratification is that the court is the instrument of the League of Nations and that ratification will take the United States into the league "by the back door" and make us subject to its will. The chief contention in behalf of ratification is that the court is a body for the judicial settlement of international disputes which, unsettled, might lead to war, and that the protocols in their present form so meet the objections raised in the senate that every interest of this country is so protected that it in no way can be affected or even considered by the court save upon agreement on our part.

The heads of three successive administrations—Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover—have championed the court and favored entrance into it. At least two secretaries of state have championed entrance. One is now sitting on the bench of the court and the other is chief justice of the United States.
 High officials in both the army and the navy favor ratification. When the senate in 1926 agreed to ratify the World court protocol with certain reservations, the vote was seventy-six to seventeen. Now the press of the land which may be taken as fairly representative of public opinion is practically five to one, judging by those voting, for ratification. And yet practically the same senate minority which has stood in the way of ratification from the first is still arrayed to block participation in a court which may be said to have had its inception in the American idea of an international court of arbitration for the pacific settlement of disputes which may arise between nations and threaten the peace of the world.

The seating of Mr. Davis by the senate to get rid of Senator Grundy might be utilized to force senate recognition of the World court.
 Put up to the "greatest deliberative body on earth" an alternative which will cause it to accept the court as the lesser evil—as it sees it.

The shooting from ambush of an Italian customs agent in the province of Gorizia, which is along the Jugo-Slavian frontier, has prompted Premier Mussolini to demand the surrender of all the firearms held by the 200-000 population of the province, with notice that failure to give up their guns will result in search for and seizure and the inflicting of penalties on all found to possess arms. Talking about disarmament plans, here's one with a vengeance.

The government plans to borrow on the 15th of the present month $150,000,000 on six-month certificates drawing 1 1/2 per cent. interest and $250,000,000 on twelve-month certificates drawing 1 1/2 per cent. When money may be had at such rates as these it goes to show in no uncertain way not only the complete collapse of the speculative trend of a year ago, but also how little is the industrial and commercial demand for money.

The death toll of the three day fog in London is placed as high as 6,000. If such havoc can have been created by a fog in London, why should the poison gas theory be maintained to have caused the sixty-seven deaths of fog victims in Belgium?

The bureau of agricultural economics in Washington figures that the average farmer with an investment of $15,242 cleared $1,298 during 1929. If somebody will guarantee a similar return on a like investment to the average business man this year, it would have a tendency to make him breathe easily.

During the year ended June 30, prohibition agents arrested 68,173 persons and seized 8,633 automobiles worth $3,290,930 and sixty-four boats valued at $687,490. The persons prosecuted numbered 72,673, of whom 54,086 were convicted and 22,406 given jail sentences which averaged 227 days. And despite all this activity, the flow of the poison stuff went on! What an army of run-runners and bootleggers there must be that 68,173 arrests and 54,086 convictions made practically no impression on the liquor traffic!

WAIT UNTIL HE GETS THIS HYPODERMIC INJECTION.

SANTA CLAUS.

Santa Claus—all shapes and sizes of Santa Clauses—are beginning to appear in the stores and to broadcast over the radio. In a few days they will be decorating the street corners. And the joyful, white-bearded, good fairy is very much in the thoughts and dreams of the nation's millions of children, trying so hard these last few weeks to meet the impossible requirement of "being good" according to the arbitrary standard of goodness set up by their elders, which generally they must accept without understanding.

The return of the Christmas season raises certain ethical questions over which there is endless debate. Should the Santa Claus myth be kept alive? Should parents and teachers create and abet superstitions in the minds of their children?

It is hard to conceive of any questions which lead us into greater depths. We are plunged into the mystical chambers of the evolution of human concepts. A long, strange vista opens from the family fireside into the haunted depths of the mind of man. Nearly every phase of philosophical and theological thought is involved before we approach the end of the road.

Parents, it might be said, deliberately create something in the minds of their children which does not exist. They manufacture an incentive to good behavior which has no counterpart in the world of reality. In a few years, at the most, the falsehood will be found out. The child's confidence will be shattered. There will be heartaches and tears and the beginning of cynicism.

So far, so good. But this line of reasoning takes as an assumption that the parents and teachers themselves do not believe in Santa Claus. It probably is an invalid assumption.
 The persons in any community who are honestly convinced of the non-existence of the kindly old gift-bearer could be counted on the fingers of one hand. Very rare is the actual child who ever has been disillusioned. Santa Claus merely changes his clothes, his name and his physical appearance at various stages in the intellectual growth of the individual.

For Santa Claus is not an arbitrary fictional character, conceived in the mind of an individual, like Peter Rabbit or Little Bo-Peep or Simple Simon.

He has the far different and far more valid status of a universal concept. He is a child-centered projection of a child's yearn-ings. The child mind reaches into the mystical infinite and concentrates upon a symbol—the symbol of a love and tenderness and ideal grandfatherhood which transcends any actual experience. So long as children are born children will yearn. Their emotions will overflow the little limits of the world they see and hear. And so long as children yearn those yearnings will find a symbol upon which to concentrate. All that would result from a discontinuance of the Santa Claus myth would be the necessary creation of another symbol.
 Yearnings are drawn to a symbol as water is drawn to the sea. They can not float forever, like tinted clouds, buffeted by the winds beyond the world's end.

The whole debate narrows down to the question of the acceptability of a specific symbol.
 This symbol would destroy a symbol because it is a symbol logically would destroy most of creation itself as we know it. What would be left of heaven and earth if we take out of them all the man-centered projections of man's yearnings—all the Santa Clauses of adult life?

Santa Claus. In the final analysis, is part of the child's God.—Washington Star.

A Guernsey County Cloudburst.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

The heaviest rainfall of record in Ohio occurred upon a comparative small area two and one half miles northeast of Cambridge, Guernsey county, on July 16, 1914. The rain came at the close of the day and lasted from 5.30 to 7 p. m. In this brief space of but an hour and a half a total of 7.99 inches of rain fell. This record was made at the residence of Samuel McHaffey, official observer for that district, which was within the area.

The storm covered in all about twenty-five to thirty miles, but the area of maximum precipitation was of course much smaller. When it is stated that the greater part of the rainfall came down within half a hour, some idea of the tremendous rush of water earthward may be obtained. There was a high wind with the rainfall and some hail fell with it.
 Those who were out in the storm agreed in relating their experience of great difficulty in breathing. At the moment of the greatest precipitation it seemed to those so exposed that the air was so full of water that to breathe deeply would be to choke as though actually under water.

Of course, such a terrific downpour could not occur without causing damage to roads, bridges and property in general, but because the area affected was so restricted, the loss was comparatively small.

Observers on the ground reported that it seemed that three distinct storms were drawn together at the place, precipitating their joint moisture contents on the earth below. Such are the conditions that cause the phenomenon popularly referred to as a "cloudburst."

Strengthen Muscles Now.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

It is only with good health and vigor that we can depend upon accuracy and speed of the body muscles. How much better it is to learn how to keep fit than to patch up the body after some disease has attacked us.

Do you realize how dependent you are on the power to move? Our body muscles are under orders every single waking moment.
 We just have to see to it that they are kept in good condition for the wear and tear of living.

Upon the ease and perfection of movement is founded your welfare as a human being.
 You do your daily tasks, you go about your affairs, you make yourself useful, through the muscular movements you have adopted.

Every form of motion depends upon the ability of joints and muscles to act in harmony. The bones of the body are related to each other through the joints. One of the chief uses of the bones is to furnish a secure place of attachment for the muscles which operate the movements of the body. The bones work freely because the joints give them freedom to play.

The mechanism of the body is truly wonderful. In the normal person the bones are of the right size and shape. All the machinery is ready for motion, but continued motion depends upon how we use and care for the machinery.

There is no voluntary motion without muscular control exercised by nerves and brain.
 The play of the muscles depends a lot upon the nervous system. One part of the body depends on all the other parts. The whole must be kept in good repair.

Everything depends upon proper nutrition, the right exercise, rest and sleep, fresh air and sunlight. Your diet must be good so that tissues, muscles, bones and nerves are well nourished. Your exercise must be adequate and not too vigorous. If you don't observe the rules of right living you have to pay the penalty in less efficient muscular action.

Too many persons neglect all or some of the important rules of living, until all of a sudden they are played out. A careless person may go a good many years, and, according to his "constitution," or his resistance to disease, he may enjoy apparently good health until he breaks down, long before he should.

How many persons there are who have a chronic tired feeling and exhaustion, or some form of rheumatism or other disease fastened upon them. They are handicapped in their movements.

Of course, there are many who are overtaken by misfortune, and our hearts go out to such. But for those who are able to control their destinies, it is a solemn duty to keep fit, and to live as useful lives as possible. To them I am talking today.

Everyone should have daily exercise. Even miniature golf has its good points. Walking is one of the most splendid of exercises.

A lot has been said lately about exercise.
 But words mean nothing. Action does. Don't be one of those persons, like the proverbial ostrich with its head in the sand, to say, "It doesn't matter." It does matter whether you keep yourself fit. To live a useful life, that is absolutely essential.—Copyright, 1930, by

The Age of the Earth.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

A vast amount of study has been devoted to the problem which has a perennial interest How long has the earth existed? There is the "geological hour-glass" method, which is particularly interesting for its analogy to sand falling by gravity in an hour-glass. By measuring the amount which has fallen we can tell the fraction of an hour.

The geologists, by measuring the rate of decimation of the earth's surface and the rate at which sedimentation has been going on, can compute the age of the earth. There is one serious drawback to this method. We can not be at all sure that the rate of decimation has been uniform.

More satisfactory results are derived by employing the more exact methods of physics and astronomy. The rate of disintegration of some element, like uranium, can be observed. Such a radio-active element, as Einstein observed long ago, is a natural clock of extreme accuracy.

From one age to another there is no appreciable variation whatever in the rate of disintegration. From studies made by Aston and Rutherford at Cambridge, the latter has calculated that the age of the earth can not exceed 3,400,000,000 years, and probably is very much less.

Other studies on the basis of astronomical evidence, have been made, which give results varying very largely. Studies have been made of the shapes of the orbits of various planets and satellites.

According to the known laws of the rates of change of these orbits, an estimate of the age of the earth can be arrived at.
 Jeffreys, from a study of the orbits of Mercury and the Moon, has computed that the age of the solar system varies from 1,000,000-10,000,000,000 years, the orbit of the Moon giving the result of about 4,000,000,000 years. The entire sum of knowledge, on this subject, until very recently, is embodied in the work of Holmes: "The Age of the Earth."

New computations have recently been made by Professor Alois F. Kovarik, of the physics department of Yale university. The radio-active element examined by him was uranium, the particular object of study being a piece of this rock from Sinyaya Pola in Karelia, northwestern Russia.

A radio-active element, as shown by Sir William Ramsay, for example, is composed of atoms which disintegrate; and in so doing change into atoms of another sort of element.

Thus we have a sort of illustration, here, of the transmutation of elements.

Three sorts of rays are emitted, known as alpha, beta and gamma rays. What is left of the original atom establishes itself in a new arrangement of a new atom, lighter in weight and possessing new chemical properties.

All this is quite well known, as is also, to a very considerable degree of accuracy, the rate at which the radio-active element dis-integrates. Amounts of a radio-active element originally and finally present are, obviously, connected by a certain relation or law, which involves the constant rate of distintegration and the elapsed time.

Kovarik has set up a formula, which has given interesting new results. One radio-activity test was announced by Rutherford in 1904, from a study of helium. But the method is open to doubt since in helium, which is a gas, there is a strong probability of leakage.

Another test has been made on biotite and fluorapatite. But it is not a particularly accurate method. The third method, the most promising of all, has been developed by the professor of radio-chemistry at Yale, B. B.
 Boltwood. A modification of Boltwood's method has now been worked out by Kovarik.
 Specimens of uraninite from South Dakota and Russia give values, respectively, of 1-465,000,000 and 1,852,000,000 for the ages of these two minerals. Other uranium-bearing minerals from Norway give values ranging from 825,000,000 to 986,000,000 years.—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

 furnace."

Smoot-Hawley Tariff Only One To Aid Farmer

Dunlap, U. S. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Tells Grange Rate Increase on Farm Products Highest in New Law; 150 in Pageant.

Smoot-Hawley tariff passed by Congress was termed the only tariff in history by Remick, of Washington, D. C., assistant United States secretary of agriculture, in an address which was the last night's grange session at the Palace theater.

The speaker was more than 100 minutes long. The crowd numbered more than 2,000. The Ohio state grange, under the leadership of Mrs. W. H. Dunlap, wife of the state secretary.

An elaborate pageant requiring a cast of 150 Marion county grangers, was presented immediately before Dunlap's address. The pageant was written by S. H. Stowe of Marion.

Dunlap briefly explained how the new tariff law benefits farmers despite the downward trend of farm produce prices this year and also touched on tax problems which he labeled as one of the farmers' greatest worries.

"The new tariff may safely be called a farmer's tariff because it increases the tariff rates on farm products to a greater extent than rates for industrial products and other goods it covers," Dunlap said.

"While the average increase for the 15 schedules of the tariff act was 20 per cent, the average increase in schedule seven, affecting farm produce and provisions, was increased 49 per cent," he added.

Compares Rates

"The 1930 tariff is a step towards placing the United States on a par in farm produce tariff rates with other countries," Dunlap declared. "Before the tariff was passed, this country's tariff rate on wheat was 42 cents as compared with a rate of $1.62 effective in Germany," he said.

Further statements of Dunlap followed. Farmers are bearing the brunt of the tax burden of the country with the direct tax on farm property in United States more than two and a half times as great as in 1914.

"In contrast to this rise in taxes, farm land values are now only 16 per cent higher for the country as a whole since 1914. In Ohio, land values are six per cent below the 1913 level.

"The reason for this is the price of farm products. To have those, we must pay more in taxes. A certain amount of relief might be obtained through waste disposal of tax funds. Governmental costs might be reduced by combining governments of two or three counties. In many counties there is no need for two judges yet these offices are on the payroll."

Dunlap from Ohio

Dunlap brought a message from Arthur M. Hyde, national secretary of agriculture, expressing regret for his inability to attend the convention.

Although his duties require his residence in Washington, D. C., Dunlap is a Kingston, O. resident. The elaborate pageant was divided into five principal parts, each one depicting some historic feature of the grange, its ideals, and its spirit.

The divisions include the birth of the idea, early grange history in Ohio, the achievements of the grange, and the spirit of progress. Music for the entire program, including the pageant, was furnished by the Grand Prairie grange, orchestra, directed by R. T. Thew.

Wooster Woman Awarded Medal in Grange Contest

Mrs. Leota Eberly Wins Second Place in National Contest; New Hampshire Man Makes Presentation Today as Lecturers Meet.

The awarding of a medal to Mrs. Leota Eberly of Wooster, who won second honors in a contest sponsored by the National Grange made by James C. Farnier of South Newbury, N. Y., national lecturer of the grange, was the outstanding event in the Lecturers' Association program today. The medal was presented at the session this afternoon.

Mrs. Eberly won second place in a national lecture contest in answering 110 questions on the work which she had done for her grange programs, and the general work of the grange of which she is a member.

Meet in Church

The relations between the Pomona county grange, and the subordinate grange lecturer was discussed this morning by the association in a session at First Presbyterian church.

Howard Zellar of Springfield, Mrs. Martha Peters of Port Clinton, Mrs. Elsie J. Campbell of Xenia and Mrs. Ethel Rich of Ashland led the discussion.

Harry Fox, editor of the State Grange monthly magazine and G. E. Noble of Ashland each gave short talks on grange publicity, regarding the way in which granges should go about obtaining the best publicity possible through its activities.

Mr. Farnier presided at a meeting of the association this afternoon and was the principal speaker on the program.

L. B. Fidler, former master of Marion Pomona grange and now of Canal Winchester, will talk Thursday at 8 a. m. at the church on the relationship between the Smith-Hughes department of the state and the grange lecturer.

Mrs. D. R. McConnell of Youngstown, chairman of the state Grange home economics department, will talk Thursday morning on the uses of the home economics topics in lecture programs in the subordinate granges.

Yesterday afternoon Professor Tetrau, former Ohio Wesleyan university instructor and now professor of zoology at Ohio State university, addressed the lecturer's association. He was introduced by Alfred Vivian, dean of the college of agriculture at the state university, who led a short "experience" discussion after he had questioned the lecturers concerning the value of the use of illustrative material in grange programs.

"The lecturer so far as the success of the program is concerned is the strategic person in the local grange," Professor Tetrau said in concluding his talk yesterday afternoon. "The lecturer must establish a standing in the community, a claim of space, time and space cash, he told his audience. In explaining this, he broadened this statement by saying that the lecturer must make his program attractive enough that it will draw the members away from the picture show, their radios, etc., on the night that the grange is scheduled to meet."

Last night the lecturers gathered in the church dining room for a banquet. Mrs. Harriet Dickson of Plaquemine, a past state lecturer, presided as toastmistress. Addresses were given by Harry A. Caton, secretary of the National Grange and past state lecturer, and W. H. Palmer of Columbus. Mrs. Leah Frisby of New Philadelphia sang several selections and Mrs. Ben Van Gorden of Hamilton sang two numbers.

Sight Restored After Extraction of Teeth

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—Mrs. Lilian Wallace's jaw hurt after she got home from a dental office where she had five teeth extracted. She rubbed it to ease the pain. As she did so she placed her hand over her right eye and discovered she could see out of her left, which had been sightless for 14 years.

The dentist said the teeth had long been infected and that the resulting pressure, he believed, had paralyzed the optic nerve.

highlight of the morning session, which included reports of state grange officers and the presentation of awards to several granges for outstanding work.

Outlines Duties
"It is the duty of the extension agent to meet with organized groups, such as the grange, and learn of the rural people's problems," Ramsower declared.

"The University doesn't have a ready-made solution for all farm ailments, but must spend some time working out these problems," Ramsower continued. "Once a solution is discovered, it is up to the farm groups to apply them to obtain results," he said.

Preceding Ramsower's talk, State Master Walter F. Kirk presented awards to several granges for work done in the last year. Liberty grange in Champaign county, Adams township grange in Clinton county and Millfin grange in Wyandot county were awarded flags for possessing an inspection score of 96, reporting newly elected officers by Dec. 2, and qualifying as an honor grange for 1936. North Milford grange in Defiance county, Terre Haute grange in Champaign county, and Highland grange in Muskingum county were also entitled to flags, but representatives of these granges failed to appear to receive the awards.

SANDUSKY SCHOOL BAND PARADES CITY

Here To Help Lake Town Make Bid for 1931 Grange Convention.

Marionites as well as state grange convention visitors were given an unexpected treat when a 50-piece high school band from Sandusky, brought to Marion to augment that city's bid for the 1931 grange convention, paraded Center street at noon today.

Arrangements were completed at noon to take the band and delegation from Sandusky to Harding Memorial, where a wreath will be placed before the delegation goes to the Ohio theater to bid for the convention.

Included in the delegation are Col. Perry Noll, commander of the Soldiers' and Sailors' home at Sandusky; William Kennedy, secretary of the Sandusky chamber of commerce; Jacob Bamberger, the president of the Retail Merchants' association, and Frank H. Ward, secretary of the Ohio-Lake Erie Islands District association.

Bamberger and Kennedy both have joined the grange in order to attend the business meeting in which the convention is selected.

Sandusky has not entertained a state grange convention in 52 years.

LaFollette Resolution Drawn as Reply Awaits Vote of Senators.

unemployment relief, and rushed it to the senate.

In the meantime house committee plied into complete work on the drought relief bill. The senate passed a $80,000,000 one yesterday over administration disapproval but without dissenting voice in the chamber. The house agriculture committee, over Democratic protest, has endorsed a $30,000,000 appropriation for providing food for destitute farmers, sticking as close as possible to administration wishes.

Despite the verbal attacks of the Democrats on the President—many members still were clamoring to be heard when the senate recessed last night—the minority party opposed to the great sheet of relief proposals which have been characterized by the administration as treasury raids.

Senator Reed, Republican of Pennsylvania, was the President's chief defender in yesterday's debate. He maintained there was no partisan attack intended by the chief executive, and that "nothing in his statement begins to compare with some of the attacks we have made upon him here."

In the vote on the LaFollette resolution, when it comes, some members saw today an opportunity to determine just how much rank and file support remains for the cooperation pledge of Democratic leaders.

Interest in Revival Services Increases

Revival services at the Church of God, Bennett and Latourette street, continue to increase in interest and attendance. Rev. Sarah B. Cox reported this morning.

"What the world needs, what the church needs today, is an old-fashioned baptism in Holy Ghost religion," evangelist Koch said in his sermon last night. The meetings will be held each night for the remainder of the week, with three services on Sunday.

Deputy Matrons Discuss Juvenile Grange Work

Harry Caton Tells Contributing Factors in Growth of Group; Associate Editor of Monthly Urges Establishment of Magazine for Younger Group.

Contributing factors in the growth of the juvenile grange throughout the nation were discussed by Harry A. Caton of Canton, secretary of the national grange, in an address this morning before the Deputy Matrons' association in the Elks' rooms.

The deputy matrons of subordinate granges over the state organized and supervised the work of the juvenile granges. All sessions of the matrons' association are given over to a discussion of some phase of juvenile work.

"Ohio need not be humiliated because it has not organized as many juvenile granges this year as New York, because New York is practically a virgin field and also has had the stimulus of the national grange meeting here," Mr. Caton said.

Also on this morning's program, Miss Elizabeth Master, home demonstration agent of Clinton county, talked to the women on "How Juvenile Granges Can Cooperate With the Extension Service of the State University." She urged that the matrons make their programs seasonal and adapted to the younger mind by developing the spirit of play.

Miss Harriet Mason, associate editor of the Ohio State Grange monthly, recommended that juvenile granges have a paper of their own, with all the departments that the state magazine has, as a stimulus to interest.

This afternoon the Grand Prairie Juvenile grange gave a demonstration program suitable for presentation in any juvenile grange, at a special session of the matrons in the Elks' room.

The Deputy Masters' and Deputy Matrons' associations will meet for a joint banquet at Hotel Harding at 5:30 p. m.

Yesterday the Deputy Matrons' association opened its sessions with a welcome address by Mrs. Walter F. Kirk of Port Clinton, worthy matron of the association, who talked on "The Juvenile Grange at Rochester." Her talk was based on the development of juvenile granges throughout the country.

Dean Alfred Vivian of the college of agriculture at Ohio State university gave a short talk in which he urged that symbolism be es-

Communist Scourge Sweeping Over China

By The Associated Press
HANKOW, China, Dec. 10.—China's latest scourge, communism, today appeared to be gaining momentum despite government efforts to curb this latest menace. Dispatches received today from Hupeh provinces, where Soviet advisers said 20,000 reds, who annihilated a similar number of provincial troops, indicated communist activities were increasing greatly throughout the area. Soviet forces were spreading rapidly in southeastern Honan, where bandits were reported during a reign of terror.
